2025 Recognition of the
Top Patent Firms at the USPTO

TOP PATENT FIRMS AT THE USPTO

The top patent firms at the USPTO – according to the industry’s leading database.

Awards are everywhere. Some reward headcount or filing volume. Others lean on surveys or fees. What’s missing are honors grounded in observable performance.

Top Patent Firms fixes that. Backed by Juristat’s proprietary USPTO dataset, these recognitions are based solely on measurable prosecution outcomes—no submissions, no entry fees, no pay-to-play.

This year’s edition highlights where firms truly excel—by outcome and by industry. Each category stands on its own and assigns a Gold, Silver, or Bronze designator. In short: a defensible foundation, clear rules, and category-level recognition you can cite with confidence.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

Top Patent Firms 2025 Edition: Rebuilt to reflect the way patent practices work today

You already know budgets are tight. You know that corporations are surgically pruning their patent firms (and sometimes the scalpel is a machete). Patent analytics, generative AI, data-based strategy, once innovative, all table stakes.

In the face of constant change and moving goal posts, we're updating our annual Top Patent Firm awards to focus on the numbers that bolster firm RFPs and bullet-proof businesses.

We will highlight where firms actually excel—by outcome, efficiency, resilience, market position, and industry strength—each measured on its own, with Gold/Silver/Bronze tiers and alphabetical lists within each tier. No composites. No pay-to-play. Just data you can defend.

NEW! Innovative Leader: recognizing firms modernizing practice

Some firms aren't waiting for the future—they're building it. We created the new Innovative Leader awards to honor teams that pair analytics, automation, and responsible AI with real process discipline. The result: faster cycles, cleaner handoffs, and more predictable outcomes that clients can feel.

Selections are made by a Juristat expert panel based on the firm's inclination to embrace innovation, legal technology, and commitment to moving the patent industry forward.

This is recognition for implemented change that moves prosecution forward.

Outcomes you can compare

Clients buy results, not volume. We highlight where work converts to granted rights and keep it fair with normalization. Adjusting allowance rate, time to allowance, and office actions to allowance for examiner mix separates execution from examiner effects. Method tags and cut dates are published on every page.

Execution that moves cases

Speed and discipline matter. We track normalized time to allowance, normalized OAs to allowance, time to response after OA, and extensions to show compact prosecution without rewarding easy art units. This is strategy clients feel.

Market-aligned context

Panels are built by industry and reinforced by buyer behavior. CPC-mapped industry views let teams compare true peers in sectors like Automotive, Biotech, and Education.

KEY TAKEAWAYS (CONT'D)

Top Outside Counsel shows which firms major filers hire and keep, using a composite of outcomes, compact prosecution, pendency, clarity, and response discipline—mirroring how legal departments manage panels today.

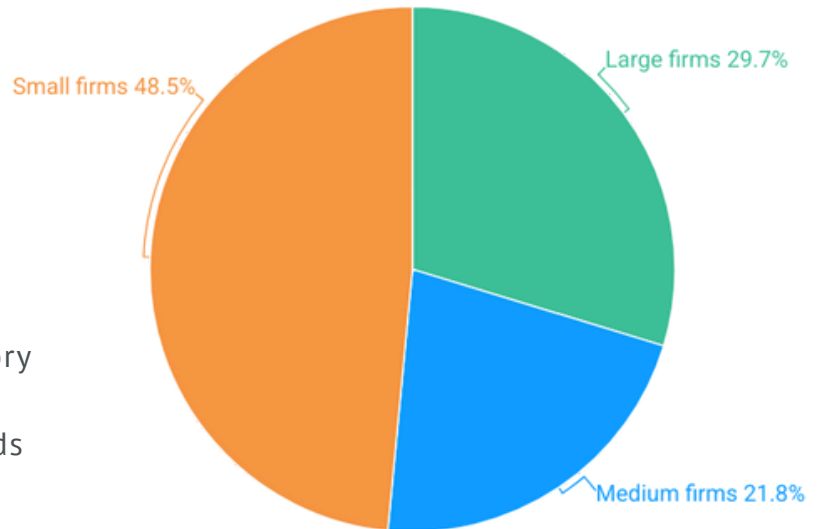

We purposefully didn't create a composite "overall" rank. Each category stands alone. Firms are listed alphabetically within tiers. That avoids misleading precision and keeps the focus on where a team is genuinely strong.

The business impact: a more balanced cohort

The new methodology broadens recognition. This year's honorees skew far less toward large firms than the prior edition:

- 2025: Large 29.7%, Medium 21.8%, Small 48.5%
- Last year: Large 70%, Medium 17%, Small 13%

This distribution suggests the shift to category tiers, normalization, and CPC industry views reduces size bias and surfaces specialists with measurable strengths.

METHODOLOGY

How our rankings work

We built this year's Top Patent Firms to highlight where firms truly excel.

Not by technology center, but by the outcomes and industries clients care about most.

Each category stands on its own, awarding a Gold, Silver, or Bronze designator based on their performance in any given category.

Who's included

We start with firms that filed or disposed of more than 100 applications in a fixed 12-month window, July 8, 2023 to July 8, 2024. To account for the 18-month publication delay, the analysis looks back at a previous timeframe so that we'd have the most accurate and comprehensive dataset possible.

Matters are attributed to the firm of record at time of disposition. We standardize name variants and account for mergers and rebrands.

What we measure

We selected metrics that reflect how clients judge prosecution work: outcomes, speed, efficiency, difficulty, and scale.

Together, they show where a firm converts effort into results, where cycles are tight, and where teams win in harder settings.

They also map cleanly to business development. You can show strengths in interviews, appeals, small-entity work, design filings, and work before difficult examiners, without hiding behind volume alone.

To see all data definitions, visit our website.

INNOVATIVE LEADERS

The Top Patent Firms Innovative Leader award honors firms pushing patent practice forward. We look for teams that embrace technology, modern workflows, and responsible change that clients can feel in outcomes, speed, and predictability.

An internal panel of Juristat experts from multiple teams conducts a qualitative review each year. The review is holistic and judgment-based. There is no fee and no application required. We do not run a scorecard or a formula.

We consider public and verifiable signals of innovation and operational progress, such as:

- Visible adoption of analytics, automation, or responsible AI
- Documented process improvements (e.g., routing, response cadence, QC)
- Evidence of client impact (faster cycles, fewer surprises, clearer collaboration)
- Thought leadership or knowledge sharing that benefits the profession

These are contextual inputs, not pass/fail criteria.

We recognize a limited cohort each year based on the panel's review window. The size may vary year to year.

INNOVATIVE LEADERS

NORMALIZED TIME TO ALLOWANCE

Normalized Time to Allowance adjusts the raw time-to-allowance to account for examiner-specific processing speeds. Using the formula  $\text{firm\_avg} + (\text{firm\_avg} - \text{examiner\_avg})$ , this metric isolates firm efficiency from examiner speed variations, providing a fairer comparison of prosecution efficiency across firms that may face faster or slower examiners.

TIME TO RESPONSE AFTER OA

Time to Response After OA measures the average number of days between receiving an office action and filing the first response. Lower values indicate faster response times, which may reflect efficient internal processes, adequate staffing, or proactive case management. Response timing can impact overall prosecution timeline and client satisfaction.

NORMALIZED OA TO ALLOWANCE

Normalized OAs to Allowance adjusts the raw office actions count to account for examiner-specific tendencies. Using the formula  $\text{firm\_avg} + (\text{firm\_avg} - \text{examiner\_avg})$ , this metric removes bias from examiners who systematically issue more or fewer office actions, allowing for fairer cross-firm comparisons of prosecution efficiency.

NORMALIZED ALLOWANCE RATE

Clients care about ends, not just means. Normalization makes comparisons fair when your docket includes tougher examiners.

Normalized Allowance Rate adjusts the raw allowance rate to account for examiner difficulty, providing a fairer comparison across firms. The normalization uses the formula  $\text{firm\_avg} + (\text{firm\_avg} - \text{examiner\_avg})$ , which adjusts firm performance relative to the average allowance rate of the examiners they faced. This removes the bias introduced by some firms facing easier or harder examiners.

TOP OUTSIDE COUNSEL

Being chosen and kept by major filers is a market signal. It blends trust, results, and scale in the places where purchase decisions happen.

We looked at the top 100 highest filing assignees at the USPTO, and using the formula Juristat Analytics' customers rely on to power their Outside Counsel Scorecard, we identified the top 3 outside counsel firms for each of those assignees.

That formula is (allowance rate rank) + (average office actions rank) + (pendency rank) + (112b rate) + (response time rank). The firm with the lower overall score will rank higher.

BY INDUSTRY

Clients think in industries, not codes. To make category insights comparable across portfolios, we map CPC to defined industry sectors.

CPC subclasses such as H04W (wireless communication networks) or C12N (biotechnology) give us a consistent way to group technologies.

Each firm's filings are classified using the primary CPC codes on their patents. This supports apples-to-apples benchmarking within key sectors. We're honoring the firms doing excellent work in these focused areas.

To see which CPC codes were analyzed for each Industry, visit our website.

ABOUT JURISTAT

What if we could remove some of the uncertainty and complexity of getting a patent at the USPTO? This question—the quest to minimize uncertainty and maximize success—drives us. Innovative patent professionals use Juristat to manage IP spend, improve patent outcomes, and streamline the most tedious tasks associated with obtaining a patent at the USPTO.

Juristat's comprehensive SaaS solutions combine data, technology, and trusted patent expertise to help IP attorneys and corporate teams streamline workflows and make more strategic, data-driven decisions.

And the results speak for themselves. Corporate IP teams and firms see up to a 10X ROI, with many saving $500K–$1M annually through more efficient prosecution. Juristat users also consistently achieve higher allowance rates than the USPTO average, building stronger, more defensible portfolios that deliver measurable value year after year.
